Sparse crowd attends school budget hearing

The public hearing on a $17 million school budget was conducted Monday night by the Plymouth Board of Education with less than 20 persons, including school district employees, in the audience.

The $17.4 million budget presented at the public hearing provides a reserve for contingencies of $83,500. Ray Hoedell, assistant superintendent of business, cautioned that this contingency is "precariously low" because another cut in state aid is anticipated which could reduce revenues by up to $143,000.

IN A BUDGET message to the community, Superintendent John M. Hoben said:

"In the past 10 years, the Plymouth Community School District has truly become 'Big Business'."

"In that period the student enrollment has doubled and the budget has increased from $3.6 million to $17.4 million. The district's operating budget—expressed in cost per student—has increased 146 per cent in 10 years: from $527 per student in 1965-66 to $1,298 in 1975-76."

"Larger enrollments, significant improvements in teacher compensation and the introduction of new programs and services are among the factors accounting for this sharp rise in costs. Others are efforts to maintain teacher-student ratios and the 'overall problem' of how much more to budget for inflation."

"The 1975-76 operating budget represents a conscientious effort on behalf of the board of education and staff to maintain our school district's stride towards educational quality and excellence."

THE DISTRICT'S revenues this year will increase by about 15 per cent from last year and expenditures will increase about 12 per cent compared to a 17 per cent increase in expenditures last year.

General state aid for 1975-76 will be $152.40 per student compared to $197.40 per student last year, a decrease of $45 per student. Expressed in total dollars, the district this year will receive $470,653 less in state membership aid even though enrollment has climbed by six per cent, from 12,656 to 13,415.

The tax base, as equalized by the state, has increased by $84,990 (21.6 per cent) to almost $479 million for a wealth per student of $35,680.

The increased tax base will generate an extra $2.6 million in revenue based on 29.01 mills levied for operation.

The local tax levy accounts for some 74 per cent of the district's total revenue, with 20 per cent coming from general state aid.

The only areas in the proposed budget where there has been an actual decrease in dollars budgeted from last year's actual expenditures are in adult education and capital outlay.

Budget classifications showing large increases include special education and community services.

AMONG THE CUTS in the budget presented Monday night are:

A $40,000 reduction by cutting the budget for substitute teachers district-wide from $135,000 to $95,000.

Reducing five custodial positions and enacting a new energy conservation committee to cut utility costs. There are presently no lay-offs in the budget.

Capital outlay has been decreased by almost $23,000.

The proposed new hockey program, girls' golf and girls' gymnastics weren't included in the proposed budget.

Teaching supplies have been reduced by eight per cent in each building for an expected savings of about $52,000. The board has also decided against hiring an assistant superintendent of instruction until at least July 1, 1976 for a savings of $30,000.

THERE WAS an effort at Saturday morning's special meeting on the budget to add girls' golf this year, but that effort was defeated by a 3-1 vote.

Marcia Borowski, board vice-president, voted no because she felt money for the program should come from within the existing athletic budget instead of increasing the athletic budget to begin the sport. Trustees Gary Mirto and Tom Yack were absent and Trustee Dr. E.J. McClendon had left before the vote was taken.

At Monday night's hearing, Borowski complained that the athletic budget had increased by 11 per cent without any new programs being added.

"We are cutting teaching supplies, why aren't we cutting uniforms or other sports equipment? We are cutting library aides, why aren't we cutting assistant coaches? We are cutting educational field trips, why aren't we cutting costs of transportation in athletics? We are cutting a lot in the budget, but only $1,000 has been cut in the athletic budget? Surely there must be some areas that savings can be realized in the athletic budget."

"I'm not saying the athletic budget is a luxury one, but we aren't talking about increasing the number of kids each coach must serve, we aren't talking about cutting off the lights at the football field. We have cut inservice training for teachers by $7,000 and have increased the amount budgeted for coaches' clinics."

Trustee Joe Gray said he found Borowski's comments very repetitious because the athletic budget was discussed for four to five hours at Saturday's session.

"We are working on a very small and very tight athletic budget," said Gray, "much smaller than in other school districts. We have added new girls' sports programs, and these programs cost more each year."

Hoben commented that last year girls' softball and volleyball were added at the middle school level, and girls' softball at the high school level, without any extra cost. These programs were absorbed into the regular athletic budget, he added, which cannot be done this year because it's a tight budget.

Trustee George Lawton said eliminating night football games to after-

Sanitation authority hopes revitalized by new state law

By DARLENE STINSON

Plymouth-Canton residents could pay less for garbage pick up and disposal in future years, if hopes of the Intergovernmental Council are realized.

Council members, who represent the City of Plymouth, the Plymouth Community School District and Canton, Plymouth Salem and Superior townships, may examine the possible establishment of an areawide sanitation authority, proposed to revive or replace an authority now inactive for two years.

THE AUTHORITY, as envisioned by local officials, would provide more efficient and less costly garbage disposal services to residents through possible areawide establishment of a disposal plant, recycling program or joint garbage pickup plan.

Monetary issues, however, could act as a roadblock, checking the discussions and plans of intergovernmental members.

The Western Wayne County Sanitation Authority, established several years ago by the cities of Plymouth and Northville and Canton, Plymouth and Northville townships, attained an inactive status when financial issues became paramount.

The inability of townships to levy taxes for sanitation without a referendum vote paved the pathway of the authority's demise, according to Gene Overholt, former Plymouth Township trustee and chairman of the sanitation authority.

"The authority was chartered, and we even had contacted different organizations for garbage pick up," Overholt said. "The place where we got bogged down was in the area of townships being able to charge for pickup purposes."

"In all cases, the townships had had millages defeated for other reasons. The climate may have changed, but, at that time, any tax increases at the local level would have been impossible."

Rumors of a new state law, giving townships the right to tax for sanitation purposes without a vote of the people, recently revived intergovernmental hopes of establishing an authority.

But, according to bonding attorney George Stevenson, a member of the Detroit law firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock & Stone, the law generally does not empower townships to sell sanitation bonds without a referendum vote.

Townships may only take such action, Stevenson said, when a court or the Michigan Water Resources Commission orders the establishment of sanitation facilities to correct a pollution problem.

"The intent of the Legislature is that people can't avoid dealing with specific problems," Stevenson said. "Townships have no general authority to borrow money. Townships are authorized under various statutes to borrow money under certain conditions."

SOME LOCAL officials feel the intergovernmental committee could revive the area's defunct sanitation authority, even if a vote of township residents is required.

Richard Gornick, a Plymouth Township trustee and member of the Intergovernmental Council says many Plymouth Township residents would pay less money for garbage pickup purposes if a sanitation authority were established.

Township residents now pay about $3.25 a month for garbage pickup contracts with individual companies, Gornick said. Taxes to finance a sanitation authority would probably only total about $2.10 a month, he figures.

"I think it's a good thing," Gornick said of the sanitation authority, "but it would require the job of educating the people."

"The authority has long-term advantages too. We're slowly but surely running out of space for sanitary landfills, and there are recycling possibilities. What do you do with old tires and old cars? That's a problem."

Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein, another intergovernmental member, says he is willing to examine possible sanitation plans.

"I'd like to hear more about it," Greenstein said of the authority. "I'm very much in favor of intergovernmental cooperation. If I thought it was worth taking to the vote of the people, I'd do it."

Canton's annual garbage pickup bill, taken from the general fund, now totals about $130,000, Greenstein said.

"I always thought it might be better if we had our own garbage pickup. Contractors make a profit. If you eliminate that, then it would cost a lot less money."

PLYMOUTH CITY Manager Fred Yockey, a former member of the Southeast Oakland County Incinerator Authority, cited numerous advantages of areawide sanitation plans, including economy of scale and the potential to establish disposal and recycling programs.

The city, Yockey said, currently contracts garbage pick up services to a private sanitation company. The city, allowed under law to levy a maximum three mills ($3 per $1,000 of state equalized value) for sanitation purposes, currently levies 1.52 mills for garbage pick up.

"We haven't pursued the idea of an authority in recent years," Yockey said. "But, in general, the city would be interested in looking at the cost-saving of an authority and the reliability of a disposal site owned by a governmental entity. It would make for a much more efficient operation."

Plymouth City Commissioner Norbert Battermann, an intergovernmental member, stressed the vital role of the townships in establishing a sanitation authority.

"Unless the townships are willing to put it to the vote of the people, it won't work," he said. "If the people are made aware of the economics of it, they might be for it. It's basically a question of economics."

Canton may collect fines for local traffic violations

Motorists speeding or driving recklessly on Canton Township roads may soon be penalized under Canton's own traffic code and contribute fines to the township coffers.

Members of the Canton Board of Trustees have unanimously agreed to charge the township attorney with the drafting of the State of Michigan's Uniform Traffic Code for township board adoption.

Adoption of the state traffic code would enable Wayne County Sheriff deputies to prosecute traffic law violators under a township ordinance.

That, says Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein, could help ensure continued county funding of the Sheriff's road patrol, according to advice of Wayne County Commissioner Royce Smith (D-Belleville), whose district includes Canton.

TRAFFIC FINES, reaped from violation of a local ordinance, would go to township coffers, Greenstein explained. Canton could donate those fines to the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Traffic fines now are earmarked for the county library fund, the supervisor said.

"Donating funds to the Sheriff's Department would be an attempt on our part to show the county we're willing to cooperate," Greenstein said.

THE WAYNE County Board of Commissioners has threatened to halt funding of the Sheriff's Road Patrol, a chief form of police protection in many of the county's townships.

Official to discuss Canton post office

Plymouth-Canton residents next week may voice questions and concerns about a recommendation to establish a zip code in Canton Township.

Joseph J. Loukotka, district director of the United States Postal Service's customer service division and a Canton resident, will speak about the postal issue and answer residents' questions at a meeting of Total Citizens Power of Canton Township (TCP), scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 29, at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth Canton High School cafeteria.

Loukotka will discuss a recommendation, submitted by Detroit Postal District officials to the U.S. Postal Service's Regional Office in Chicago, to create a Canton zip code and consolidate the township's four existing delivery routes into one.

The zip code, many local officials say, would pave the way for construction of a postal facility in Canton Township and deter construction of a new post office in the City of Plymouth.

"All the information presented about the post office so far has been about the political side," said TCP member Frank MacMurray. "We've got someone here who will give us the postal side."

TCP is a recently-formed organization, designed to present issues to residents and reap residents' feelings on specific issues.

The organization recently incorporated as Total Citizens Power of Canton Township, according to TCP President Bruce Young.

Persons from 17 other communities, including the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Westland, Livonia and Garden City, have contacted TCP members about establishing citizens groups in their communities, Young said.

Growthworks receives $59,000 grant

Growthworks Inc. of Plymouth has received a grant of $59,000 for a community development intervention and training program in the Plymouth-Canton area.

The grant from the U.S. Catholic Conference's campaign for human development will fund a training program for community segments now lacking organizing skills.

Growthworks is the merged parent organization of Youth Inc. and the crisis center Our House.

THE PROGRAM—called the Community Intervention Project—will establish community services responding to locally perceived human needs.

Economically disadvantaged people and young people will be trained in skills in identifying need areas and establishing projects and alternative services to meet those needs, explains Scott Levely of Youth Inc.

"These groups will also gain expertise at acquiring input into the direction the community's responsiveness is taking."

Growthworks now provides community services such as youth activities and guidance, student assistance, drug abuse and crisis counseling, and health care assistance.

Growthworks has, however, recognized a need in the southeastern Michigan area for more primary interventions at the community level rather than symptom-focused services.

"If the quality of life in southeastern Michigan is to begin and continue to be consistent with human needs," said a statement from Growthworks, "then local segments, citizens and community level institutions need more input into the direction of community development."

"Growthworks' Community Intervention Project is designed to develop and implement modes to give citizens and groups needed skills. As well as accomplishing local impacts, the program will pioneer a format which can be utilized in other communities."

THE CAMPAIGN for Human Development (CHD) is a national educational action program of the Catholic Church which has as a goal to impact on the quality of life in America today through education.

Local projects CHD funds are aimed at education of residents in carrying out self-help projects. Through community development education, CHD hopes to attack the root conditions of poverty, powerlessness and alienation.

The fund is generated by donations from individual parishes. At least part of the money collected from the Detroit Archdiocese is returned to this area in the form of local grants.

IN AN announcement made this week, the CHD stated:

"Communities are more than congregations of people, collections of buildings and dwellings, streets, sewers and local governmental services. They should be instruments for meeting their member's needs. In the most basic sense, they should provide for the environmental and psychological well being of their members."

"In southeastern Michigan, this isn't happening. Human needs aren't being fulfilled. Even after massive expenditures of federal money, our communities are evidencing neglect of their human resource bases."

"Communities featuring new residential expansion and commercial edifices also show signs of human resource base erosion. Alarming increases in crime, suicide, increasing alcohol and drug abuse, chronic underemployment, and growing neighborhood deterioration indicate our continued inability to meet human needs through our communities."

Traditional social service efforts, the CHD stated, are geared to providing "aftercare" for symptoms instead of giving top priority to meeting a community's needs.

Counter-acting forces which make it difficult to meet need, instead of just treating symptoms, the CHD states, include: continued fragmentation of family; chronic underemployment of young people; inadequate work skill development; and, stratification of socio-economic groupings and isolation of young people from the rest of the community.

"Another questionable approach is our increasing reliance upon regional economic and governmental forces to fill the vacuum. Limited regional planning as practiced by Southeast Michigan Council of Governments has little to do with making communities needs-meeting places."

"Expansion of regional hegemony is no answer to our growing erosion of community."

"In fact, if regional forces such as those exacerbated by SEMCOG, continue their current direction, transitory suburban lifestyles, improper land use, residential sprawl, underemployment, and continued urban blight will increase within the region. Local communities, like our older suburbs, will find their options narrowing; they will meet human needs with less effectiveness."

IN A MICRO SENSE, CHD believes, local residents—not elites—need to understand their community's current needs, future opportunities and threats, to formulate their own community direction, and to determine operational goals.

In a larger sense, the agency believes, regional efforts should be aimed at stabilizing and revitalizing local needs-meeting abilities as determined by local people.

"The Community Intervention Project will focus on these concerns in the Plymouth-Canton area. Our function will be to facilitate the determination of needs-meeting deficiencies and to begin the initial steps to fulfill those ends."

"This project is a monumental task, but without it the movement towards inadequate quality of life.

Bicentennial projects abound at Central

Margo Panko gave her eighth graders at Central Middle School a choice. Their assignment was to complete a project relating to the Revolutionary War or colonial times in the U.S.

The results were everything from log cabin villages and dolls in colonial dress to a rocking chair, made in shop class by three girls.

Detergent bottles were used as a base for the dolls which were dressed in calicos or plain pilgrim garb.

Clothespin dolls were dressed by Linda England, Trish Major, Kim Legel, LeAnna Wheeler, Lisa Mai, Lisa Dunslager and Amy Campbell. Brenda Smith made a corn husk doll.

Duane Foster and Carl Lambert spent 11 hours and used four sets of Lincoln Logs to construct an early American village. In the village there were a general store, church, farmer's house, stable, blacksmith shop and indentured servant's house.

Pan Volante, Carri Johnson and Becky Long made the rocking chair in Frank Krumbacher's shop class.

Skip Choate said the flag he made was a reproduction of one sewn by Betsy Ross, before she put the stars in a circle.

Student member could expand CAC

A student from the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) may soon join Canton Township's Citizens Advisory Council (CAC).

CAC members recently agreed to add a student representative to its membership, according to Betty Hamann, provisional chairperson of the CAC, in an effort to add types of residents not already represented.

Canton Supervisor Robert Greenstein has stamped his approval on the student representative concept, said Ms. Hamann. She plans to talk with a CEP faculty member about the selection process. Township board members must approve the student appointment.

CAC members, Ms. Hamann said, may recommend the addition of other members to the group. Those members could represent the agricultural community, industry and single family homes not located in subdivisions.

Members of the CAC, appointed by the township board last month, are charged with the study of township problems and issues assigned to them by the board.

A first duty of the CAC, according to a township board resolution, is the recommendation of additional members to the board. Current membership is primarily composed of representatives from organized homeowner and condominium groups and the Chamber of Commerce.

Township board members also charged CAC with the study of a township fire millage.

Ms. Hamann said CAC members will tour the township firehall at their next meeting.

noon would mean a loss of about 3,500 spectators and a loss of $15,000 in gate receipts. "It's unfair to consistently pick out the athletic budget as the whipping boy," Lawton added.

"I resent the suggestion I'm using the athletic budget as a whipping boy," Borowski responded. "The fact remains that the athletic budget hasn't been reduced by one penny from what the athletic director requested last spring. What's fair is fair, if we are going to cut let's cut everybody fairly."

The school board is expected to adopt the budget Monday Oct. 27, when it meets at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of Plymouth Canton High.

Y sets dates for volleyball

Men and women who want to learn volleyball, and those who enjoy the game for fun and exercise, may join the group sponsored by the Canton-Plymouth-Northville YMCA.

Players meet at 7:30 p.m. in Starkweather School gym Nov. 6, 13 and 20, and Dec. 4, 11 and 18. Fee is $6 for Y members and $8 for non-members.

Instructor Jane Stubenvoll suggests players wear comfortable clothes and gym shoes.

Candidates file expense reports

Expense reports filed with the Wayne County Clerk's office show that Scott Dodge was the top spender in the August primary election for Plymouth City Commission. Dodge, who led the field in the primary, spent $411.63. Expenditures of other candidates were: Beverly McAninch, $208.46; David Pugh, $159.95; Thomas A. Turner, $146.09; Les Howes, $121.80; Mary

Childs, $121.08; and Alfred H. Thoman Jr., $109.90. EXPENDITURES of the two candidates defeated in the primary were: Leonard Budnick, $134.35; and Kenneth B. Kisabeth who reported no receipts and no disbursements. As of Tuesday, Oct. 21, Commissioner John Cummings hadn't filed an expense report as required by law. The county clerk has asked the county prosecutor's office to get Cummings to comply with the law and file a report. John Yakush, special investigator, says Cummings mailed the report last week but it hasn't been received. Another copy was to have been made and mailed this week. "Cummings has promised in good faith to file the report and I expect he will. If not, I will take further action."

NONE OF THE candidates reported any individual contributions in excess of $100 except for Budnick who received $134.35 worth of bumper stickers and pencils from Jack Stasiuk Associates of Livonia in the form of a donation. Eight persons contributed a total of $91 to McAninch's primary campaign. Childs reports receipts of $60.58. All of Dodge's contributions were for less than $100 and the receipts portion of the report states: "This was paid for by Scott H. Dodge personally."

Thomann lists no receipts. Turner reports receipts at less than $100 but doesn't say from whom they were received, indicating they were from his personal funds. Howes reports no receipts, and Pugh reports one contribution of $100.50 from himself and a contribution from an individual of $59.45. The Plymouth Civic Federation spent $146.70 in educational programs and literature for the primary and received contributions of $238.50, leaving a balance to be spent for the general election Nov. 4.

Community Fund chairmen report

The Plymouth Community Fund drive, with a goal of $230,000, had reached the 18 per cent mark when chairmen gave progress reports at a Monday luncheon. Gil Forthofer, general chairmen of the drive, said cash donations totaled about $35,000.

Laurna Badendiek reported the residential returns were $1,043.15. Industrial contributions are two per cent above last year's at this time. Chairman Jim Boyce has collected $26,955 which is 22.8 per cent of his goal.

Carl Peterson reported $987 from the business community and Robert Shuman added $895 from the special gifts category.

MARCIA BOROWSKI, who is heading the educational division of the drive, reported $3,057; Gary Hall, professional, $1,030; and Arthur Mulligan, governmental, $1,013.

This is the 31st annual Plymouth Community Fund drive according to Daisy Proctor, secretary-treasurer of the fund.

Mrs. Proctor said 98 per cent of the money collected will be used to benefit area residents. Just two per cent of the total is used for administration as compared to five per cent for the United Fund.

Some 60 Michigan United Way agencies are made available to the residents of Plymouth Township, City of Plymouth and Canton Township through the Plymouth fund.

"AGENCIES supported by the fund aid persons in all three communities," said Forthofer. They are: American Red Cross, Michigan Cancer Foundation, Plymouth Junior Athletic Association, Boy Scouts, Plymouth Dental Fund, Senior Citizens, Salvation Army, Camp Fire Girls, Growth Works, Inc., and the Plymouth-Northville-Canton YMCA.

Twenty-eight per cent of the youngsters in the Junior Athletic Association are from Canton Township, according to Mrs. Proctor.

The progress of the drive will be shown on the thermometer graph by the torch in Kellogg Park. After the original torch-lighting ceremony the flame was extinguished as an energy conservation measure.

Fluorocarbons bill to floor

The U.S. House of Representatives Science and Technology Committee has approved the Rogers-Esch bill (H.R. 3118), which calls for a major study on the effects of fluorocarbons on the ozone layer of the earth's atmosphere.

The measure also calls for future regulations should the study confirm preliminary investigations relating to the harmful effects of fluorocarbons. Fluorocarbons are propellants used in spray cans.

U.S. Reps. Paul G. Rogers (D-Fla.), chairman of the subcommittee on public health and environment of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, and Marvin L. Esch (R-Ann Arbor), ranking minority member on the committee's environment and the atmosphere subcommittee, were the original sponsors of the legislation in the last session of Congress. Esch's district includes most of Livonia and Plymouth.

The bill will now go to the full house as part of the Clean Air Act which will come up for consideration in the next few weeks.

'Sin City' T-shirts being sold

A group calling themselves Concerned Students started selling "Sin City" T-shirts Monday at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) to inject humor into the controversy about modular scheduling at the Park.

pitch for parents to volunteer for a survey we are taking on modular scheduling at the CEP," explains Mrs. Barbara Olson. "It was not our purpose to cast the school in a bad light and we were very unhappy with the telecast. The term sin city didn't come from our group but was picked up out of context from an innocent remark Brown made."

The T-shirts are a reaction to a Channel 4 telecast shot at the CEP which was featured as "Sin City in the Suburbs." The language was picked up by the television station as an eye-catcher from a remark made by Plymouth Salem Principal Bill Brown that "this isn't sin city out here."

Four students, three seniors and one junior, have printed about 100 T-shirts which also bear a picture of a tree planted at the CEP.

The shirts are being sold for $2 each, and cost about $1.50 per shirt to make. They went on sale Monday and about 50 had been sold by Tuesday afternoon.

In on the project were Cindy Price, senior, Kevin Riley, junior, Kathy Delauro, senior, and Lynn Partin, a senior. The shirts were designed by Riley and Delauro and printed on silk screen in Price's basement. They aren't planning on making any more after the 100 are sold.

The students say the T-shirts are being sold as sort of a joke on the television broadcast and on those who report open sex is seen in the school.

The students encourage parents to tour the CEP at anytime and for as long as they want to see actions of students. "It is better to see with two eyes than just one," said Miss Price.

Students from both Plymouth Salem and Plymouth Canton high schools have purchased the shirt with word getting around by word-of-mouth advertising.

The telecast upset a number of residents, especially leaders of Concerned Parents who stress that none of their members ever used the words "sin city" and that they object strongly to the station's "sensationalism."

"We only wanted them to come out for a telecast so we could make a

Kiwanis Club to be honored by Girl Scouts

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council wishes to honor the Plymouth Kiwanis Club on its 50th anniversary. Permission was granted by the Plymouth City Commission for the council to plant a tree or a tulip garden to show its appreciation to an old friend.

In a letter to the commission, Jean Galon, council president, and Ruth Dostie, chairman of the Plymouth-Northville Area Association wrote:

"The Plymouth Kiwanis Club holds our council's Best Friend of Girl Scouting Award (1972), having given us both moral and financial support from our organization's first days over 30 years ago.

"The Kiwanis have funded innumerable camping scholarships, maintained Plymouth Lodge for Girl Scout use, helped finance the construction of a shower-house at Camp Linden and even built, by themselves, our fine cook's cabin there."

The council directed City Manager Fred Yockey to choose the site for the anniversary tree or tulip bed.

Committee term to be extended

Plymouth's City Commission Business Committee will be extended beyond its terminal date of Nov. 1.

City commissioners approved a recommendation by Harold Guenther that the membership remain intact until the new city commission, formed after the Nov. 4 election, re-constructs the business committee.

The committee was formed March 3, 1975 and Guenther asked that the term of the group be extended so that its continuity not be interrupted.

City Commissioners Norbert Battermann, Guenther, and Robert Sincok, and City Manager Fred Yockey represent the city. Edward Draugelis and Fred Hill were added at the suggestion of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

The committee has been studying the concept of parking exemption with the city assuming the responsibility for the physical existence of parking.

After a visit to the Lansing Municipal Parking System where exemption is involved members of the committee discussed the concept with the city commission.

With much effective work yet to be done and communication with the business sector to be developed, the term of the committee was extended.

Wind and sun could replace traditional energy sources, pair say

Despite the fact that he was speaking at a Futures Week seminar at Schoolcraft College, Richard MacMath of Sun Structures in Ann Arbor turned to the past to explain why people burn fuel for energy rather than rely on natural fuel sources such as wind and sun.

"Man found his first source of fuel when he set fire to wood," he explained. "Since then he has also burned gas, oil and coal. The idea of not burning anything or not using up energy is a concept that never entered his head."

"Yet in three days more solar energy strikes the earth than there is in all the fossil fuel ever consumed."

BUT HE is hopeful about the future because ideas about alternate sources of energy are now being considered by many.

One of the many is Jim Easterly, who joined MacMath during Futures Week in support of wind and sun. He is employed by Environmental Energies, Inc., a Detroit organization which aims to teach man to live in balance with his environment.

JIM EASTERLY

Easterly explained that he had once been committed to the nuclear energy field and even worked on nuclear submarines before he decided it was not the job for him.

He found the problem of reducing radioactive wastes "a headache and a messy way to go."

He added: "There is a low yield from nuclear power plants."

Today he and his associates spend their time manufacturing electric components for windmill systems which they have sold to customers in India, Puerto Rico, the Bahamas and western Michigan.

The latter area, he claimed, "is one of the best wind velocity areas in the world."

HE SAID the components cost from $6,900 to about $675.

"The more expensive system will include installation of a tower, a generator, batteries and an inverter and will yield about 180 kilowatt hours per month depending on the wind velocity."

"This will provide electricity to power lights, refrigerator, appliances, stereo, TV and a blower for heating. It won't provide enough energy with which to cook, heat water or heat the house."

The lower sum would pay for a 10-foot tower, a control panel, an inverter and batteries.

"With this you could only run lights in a cabin in the woods," he said. "It wouldn't provide much power."

Easterly said he believes in an overall ecological approach to energy. "Energy consumption is more than plugging into infinite power," he noted. "My company is taking a position of responsibility to the future."

MacGRATH'S FIRM designs and constructs solar heating systems for homes. It is possible to add solar equipment to the existing house, but he prefers to build from the ground up.

He stressed heavy use of insulation in solar homes. Using slides, he illustrated that a home heated by the sun should be narrow on the north, the direction from which wind usually comes, and wide on the south, where the glass and metal heat collectors are placed.

One house also had a berm raised to protect it on the north from the weather.

Solar heating systems usually store energy from six to eight hours of sunlight in one day in preparation for two or three cloudy days, he said.

Distress signal proposed

A flat tire in the middle of the night on a deserted highway could mean trouble for any motorist. But if there were some way motorists could contact the police quickly without traveling a great distance, the problem might not have such traumatic implications.

A proposal has been submitted to the Wayne County Public Works Committee that would add an exterior distress signal button to police call boxes along Wayne County freeways. With the distress boxes available every half mile along the freeways, a motorist could use them in the event of an accident, a disabled car, sudden illness or other problem at any time. They could also be used for quick response to prevent traffic tie-ups, further injury and assaults as well as car theft and stripping.

"There are at least 150 police call boxes on Detroit expressways," County Commissioner Clemens Bykowski said, "but they can only be used by an officer with a call box key." At very little cost, an exterior button could be added to the boxes enabling a stranded motorist to communicate directly with an officer at the nearest precinct and relate the problem, he said.

Those interested in the proposal should contact either Bykowski, 726 City-County Building, Detroit 48226 or the area commissioners on the public works committee: Tom F. Taylor (D-Westland) and Royce E. Smith (D-Belleville).

editorial opinion

'Political reform' law favors incumbents, hacks, favor-sellers

Zolton Ferency, chairman of the radical Human Rights Party. Mary Rave, chairperson of the Michigan Chapter of the ACLU. Eldon Andrews, of the Michigan Conservative Party. Richard Durant, former chairman of the Republican Party's 14th district and conservative activist throughout the GOP statewide. Josephine Chapman, political action chairperson of the George Wallace-leaning American Independent Party. Henry Dodge, legislative director of the Civic, Consumer and Homeowner Association.

A remarkable list, and what's even more remarkable is that there they were yesterday, on the same platform, united in their views.

United on what? You ask.

United in opposition to the recently passed political reform legislation, which their collective press release labeled the "Political Spending Act" or the "Common Cause Rip-Off."

In part, they are sore because the law requires everybody and his uncle to report all political contributions and mandates all officeholders to spread their financial affairs before the public. This they deem an invasion of privacy.

I'M NOT sure that I agree with all their arguments, but I do feel that careful and quietly embedded in the new political reform law are a series of provisions that will, on balance, substantially change for the worse the kinds of people able and willing to get into politics.

The law establishes campaign expenditure ceilings: $1 million for governor; $300,000 for secretary of state and attorney general; $30,000 for state senator; $15,000 for state representative. These ceilings are, to say the least, adequate; in fact, they are much higher than candidates usually spend in campaigns, even at today's inflated costs.

OK. So how do the candidates get all this money?

Observation Point

by PHILIP H. POWER

Certainly not from citizens who feel concerned about politics and are willing to blow a grand or two on a new, fresh face. The law sets up a maximum limit to contributions for individuals of no more than $1,700 for all candidates in any year, and restricts an individual's contribution to a given race to $1,700 for governor, $450 for state senator and $250 for state representative.

Something called "independent committees," evidently meaning unions or other associations and lobbies, may contribute up to 10 times the amount for individuals.

WHAT DOES all that mean?

It means that a gubernatorial campaign, to reach its limit, would need 588 individuals each contributing the $1,700 maximum, or 58.8 lobbies, or a combination of the two. An aspiring state senator would need 66 individuals or 6.6 unions, and a fund-raising state rep would need to hit 60 individuals or 6 unions or lobbies.

So?

So, where are you going to find 60 people to pony up the $250 limit for a state representative race, unless the candidate is already an incumbent? Ditto state senate races. Ditto governor.

The point is that by allowing a very high campaign expenditure ceiling and enforcing a very low individual contribution limit, the political reform law makes it nearly impossible for fresh, independent, non-incumbent candidates to raise enough money to make a race against an incumbent.

That's not political reform. That's a law designed to perpetuate incumbents in office.

Which, one suspects, is why it ultimately got passed.

ADD ONE further provision—the political machine dominance mechanism. This provision allows a state central party committee to contribute to a candidate's war chest up to 25 per cent of the limit and allows a county or district party committee to contribute that much more.

That means the official apparatus of the political parties can contribute up to 50 per cent of a candidate's expenditure limit.

And that further insures that the only people who run are those approved by the party hierarchy.

THE ULTIMATE effect of this legislation, unless amended, will be to change quite profoundly the nature of the political process in this state.

It will make entry into the process of fresh, new candidates, unbacked by lobbies or unions or the party hierarchy, nearly impossible. It will so favor incumbents as to reduce political challenges by outsiders to a minimum.

It will do nothing to reduce campaign spending, but simultaneously make it difficult for a fresh face to get enough money to overcome the high visibility of an incumbent or a hack politician who rises from one office to the other, trading on nothing more than his name identification and his ability to trade his office for campaign contributions from favor seekers.

In sum, it will promote exactly the kind of political sociology which gradually, step by step, elevated former suburban politician Spiro T. Agnew to the vice presidency of this country.

The ethics of Agnew were the ethics of a hack politician, and I believe the present bad law will on balance encourage the hacks and their ethics.

I hope the unlikely combination of people protesting the law yesterday, together with the hundreds of thoughtful Republicans and Democrats who are deeply concerned about opening up the process of politics, can get the misnamed political reform act substantially changed.

TRICK OR TREAT!

Without changes, Detroit could go New York's route

The financial plight of New York City should cause grave concern to anyone who lives in a large metropolitan area.

New York City's problem is simply that costs of services have continually gone up while their revenue base has gone down.

As people desert the core city and flee to the suburbs, Detroit will face the same problem in the near future.

As we have said many times, if the core city goes, can suburbia be far behind? Most people who live in suburbia work in the core city.

New York's problem was heightened by the unwillingness of the mayor to cut expenses when revenues didn't materialize. Detroit isn't in the same situation because, as unpopular as they are, there have been service cuts in Detroit and people have been laid off to keep the losses down. But this is only a short-term solution.

SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN lives and dies in proportion to the health of the automobile industry. The automobile industry and its suppliers are the major source of employment and the sales tax generated from the sale of automobiles is a major source of revenue for all municipalities.

To help save Detroit, it has been suggested that the non-resident income tax be doubled. At present a person who works in Detroit but lives outside the city pays a 0.5 per cent flat-rate income tax. The proposal in Lansing is to increase this to one per cent.

Historically, the imposition of the city income tax was one of the major causes of Detroit's downfall.

SERVICE INDUSTRIES found that it didn't matter where their headquarters were. They moved out of the city, north of Eight Mile Road and west of Telegraph, and continued to serve their Detroit city accounts without paying the income tax. To increase the non-resident income tax will mean only that more service companies will abandon the core city and head for the suburbs.

One merely has to drive along Eight Mile Road in Southfield to realize the tremendous growth of that city in office buildings and shopping center complexes which started within months after Detroit passed its initial city income tax.

Without new revenue, Detroit cannot provide the services necessary to keep a large city going.

Eccentricities

by HENRY M. HOGAN, JR.

THERE ARE solutions.

First, because the metropolitan area is really one unit, although it is broken down into many municipalities and at least three counties, perhaps Detroit should enter into metropolitan government.

There are many petty potentates holding public office who will fight this idea because their spheres of influence would be lessened, but a metropolitan government, with taxing authority throughout the metropolitan area, would not create artificial reasons for people moving out of the core city.

SECONDLY, Detroit, to survive, must seek a new type of industry because the automobile industry is too cyclical and it is impossible to finance consistent service on inconsistent income.

The new industry must have different cyclical variations from those of the automotive industry. A wild idea would be to legalize gambling in the State of Michigan.

I have just returned from Las Vegas, which is an inland city created out of desert sand. It has thousands of hotel rooms and thousands of tourists flocking in every day, and it hasn't suffered from the recession.

The casino industry hires thousands of unskilled people as bellhops, hotel maintenance people, security guards and hotel domestics.

GAMBLING IS NOT a moral question, since we have already legalized the state lotteries, bingo and betting at race tracks.

To survive, Detroit has to solve some major internal problems which cause people to move out of the core city. But other cities have solved these problems, and Detroit can if it has the desire.

Suburbia can't live without a healthy core city. The core city can be saved if people are willing to work at it. Its problem, like New York's, has to be a concern of all who live in the metropolitan Detroit area.

Improve odds of survival

"I had been swimming one very hot afternoon," goes the case of a diabetic. "The heat and too much exercise brought on an insulin reaction."

"I had only my Mediguard tag with me. A police officer at first thought I was on a 'drug trip' and told me later I would have been placed in a padded cell to 'dry out' but he noticed my Mediguard emblem and summoned a doctor."

The doctor knew at first glance what was wrong and immediately administered the aid I needed."

The case history comes from Mediguard Foundation International, a group with 750,000 members that thinks it should have more. It says 40 million Americans—one person in five—could improve their chances of surviving such an accident or sudden illness by revealing their medical secrets.

By buying a lifetime membership in the non-profit association for $7, a person first gets an emblem with the words "Mediguard" and the internationally recognized caduceus in red on one side. The reverse side discloses the medical problem of the wearer—diabetes, hypoglycemia, allergic reaction to penicillin, whatever—along with a file number and an emergency phone number in Turlock, Calif. There, Mediguard personnel can provide a collect caller other vital information to save a member's life.

Information is available from Mediguard Foundation International, Box K, Turlock, Calif. 95380.

Publicity workshop informative

Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to express the appreciation of the Greater Detroit Cooperative Nursery Council for the workshop that The Observer & Eccentric presented on publicity. The workshop was very informative and your staff was extremely helpful in the presentation.

This opportunity enables me to better serve the western Wayne County cooperative nurseries and to inform them on the Observer & Eccentric's requirements for stories and publicity.

A community newspaper performs an important function, and we of the co-op nurseries appreciate all the information that has been given to the community concerning our nurseries. Because of the Observer & Eccentric's stories on co-op nurseries each year, many children have gained a developmental experience that they might not have been able to.

At a time when many of our nurseries throughout the metropolitan area are having difficulties with enrollment, the Observer & Eccentric has helped the western Wayne County area enrollments remain high. We appreciate the coverage that Margaret Miller has given us and look forward to continued exchanges between cooperative

Cancer article alarming

Editor:

I am writing in regard to an article on Page 1 B of Oct. 6 headlined "Breast lumps ruled 'benign' may not be."

I feel the headline would cause alarm in any woman who has received a report from her doctor indicating that the lump was benign. The article is about hyperplastic tissue and not all lumps are of this tissue.

And while it is true that hyperplastic tissue may be considered somewhat pre-cancerous, it does not mean that at this time the lump is anything but benign.

It takes a cool, scientific mind to understand the point that Dr. Rivera is making. And a woman vitally interested in her lump in her breast may not understand the fine distinctions in the article.

I dislike the headline and the article also, in some ill-defined way. I feel the article could cause more concern than enlightenment.

SEMCOG's powers for planning may be cut

By TIM RICHARD

The planning power of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments may be reduced in the fields of health and transportation.

SEMCOG leaders learned last week their seven-county agency is ineligible to operate a regional Health Systems Agency under a 1974 federal health planning act.

Michael Glusac, SEMCOG's executive director, said federal regulations require that 50 to 60 per cent of board members of a Health Systems Agency must be "consumers" and the number of public elected officials cannot exceed one-third of the board.

Because SEMCOG's executive committee and general assembly are composed of elected officials entirely, the seven-county regional body appears ineligible, Glusac said.

EVEN SEMCOG'S role as a review agency for federal grants may be weakened, Glusac said.

"There are no provisions for Health Systems Agency efforts being consistent with multi-purpose planning agency plans. As a result, the guidelines make SEMCOG plans subservient to HSA plans with no guarantee that the respective plans will be consistent with one another," Glusac said.

Glusac said HSA "will have significant powers, including the ability to make grants for health service development and to approve or disapprove the use of health-related federal funds within the region."

Glusac said in an interview it appears the HSA designation will go to the Comprehensive Health Planning Commission, "a body that SEMCOG spawned six years ago. We started it when we found consumers, hospitals and providers (doctors) weren't talking to each other."

Chairman of the Comprehensive Health Planning Commission is Mel Ravitz, a former SEMCOG chairman.

IN A RESOLUTION offered by Lathrup Village Mayor Richard Cogger, the SEMCOG executive committee asked the State Legislature for a continuing role in appointing the board of the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA).

But in a significant step, SEMCOG asked only for a role as "an appointing authority" rather than as "the" appointing authority.

It means SEMCOG is prepared to accept the agreement between SEMTA, Mayor Coleman Young of Detroit and Gov. William Milliken in which the Detroit mayor would be allowed to appoint several SEMTA board members.

Under present law, SEMCOG appoints six members, the governor three and the mayor none. The SEMTA-Young-Milliken deal would give SEMCOG five suburban appointments, Young five and Milliken three, with Milliken's choices subject to the approval of six of the other 10 members.

Cogger pointed to legislative bills that "would shut the door on us (SEMCOG) entirely" in having a role in shaping the SEMTA board. He said the SEMCOG resolution was aimed "only indirectly" at the SEMTA-Young-Milliken deal.

Significantly, the Cogger resolution passed the SEMCOG executive committee unanimously by voice vote. Even William Cilluffo, Mayor Young's personal representative on the SEMCOG committee, supported it.

COGGER'S resolution said in part: "SEMCOG recognizes the strong link that must continue to exist between the citizens of the region, the regional planning agency (SEMCOG) and the regional public transportation agency (SEMTA) if the people of southeast Michigan are to have an effective public transit system."

"SEMCOG is the metropolitan planning organization for federal transportation money and, as such, serves as the forum for cooperative decision making by principal elected officials of general purpose local governments."

"SEMCOG is the only vehicle in the region which has representation from all levels of government—county, city, township."

"We strongly urge that any legislation restructuring the SEMTA board continue to include SEMCOG's general assembly as an appointing authority."

IN A RELATED matter, the SEMCOG executive committee unanimously endorsed Mayor Young's choice of Walter E. Douglas to the SEMTA board for a term ending the first of 1977.

Douglas, 42, has been a vice president of New Detroit, Inc. since 1971 after a career in computers with the Internal Revenue Service.

Greeting cards benefit charities

"More people each year seem to prefer buying charity-related Christmas cards, thereby giving a doubly special meaning to the spirit of Christmas giving."

The observation, from a member of the Northwest Communities Association for Retarded Children, explains the growing popularity of the Christmas card as a means of aiding a favorite charity.

A card selected from the organizational offerings means that the money spent will do double duty—a bargain more and more appreciated as the cost of Christmas goes up.

FEATURED ON THIS page are cards offered by eight organizations and a seal for letters and Christmas packages. All may be ordered in plenty of time for Christmas message exchanging. Offerings of other organizations will appear during the next few weeks.

Several of the organizations offer a selection of cards.

Among these are the Braille Transcribers, who work out of Nardin Park United Methodist Church in Farmington and have a number of volunteers from this area.

The six cards they are selling help finance the group's service work, transcribing textbooks into Braille for school children.

PICTURES BY young artists are on several of the cards offered. One is a winter skating scene done by a child and used by the Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children.

The Retarded Citizens organization is offering, in addition to the design pictured, six prize-winning cards created in a national contest for art work by retarded.

The Child Research Center League has a somewhat different money-raising plan this year. Instead of cards, it is selling packets of seals with the symbol of the Child Research Center of Michigan.

The gold foil seals with black printing are designed for use on letters, cards and packages at Christmas time. The price is $1 for a package of 25, with a reduction in price for larger quantities.

Organizations also use the cards to spread information about their group and its purpose.

Kathleen Ott of Plymouth, writing on behalf of the Spinal Bifida Association of Michigan, said, "Spinal bifida is unheard of for the majority of the population, yet is one of our major birth defects."

She added that the disease, also known as open spine, is caused by a malformation of the central nervous system, resulting in weakness or even total paralysis of the legs, diminished skin sensation and bowel and bladder impairment, and pointed out that money from Christmas cards sold helps the organization support spinal bifida children and their families on emotional, physical and social levels.

THE OBSERVER & ECCENTRIC does not handle orders for cards; these should be placed with the persons listed beneath each offering.

However, the cards we have received and the instructions for ordering will be placed in a book that will be available to visitors in the lobby of our office at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia.

Organizations wishing to be included in the scrapbook and in future publications should mail their cards to the same address.

The little drummer boy, as drawn by a retarded person in a national contest, is the design for one card being sold this year by the Northwest Communities Association for Retarded Citizens. The group's selection also includes five other cards designed by the retarded, and the prices range from $3 to $5 for a box of 25. To order them, call Nancy LeSarge, 20408 Lennane, Redford Township.

Selecting the tree is the theme of the card benefiting Children's Hospital of Michigan. The cards sell for $3.75 for a package of 25, and the money raised will be used for the hospital's Clinic for Handicapped Children. Mrs. James Jackson, 8869 Nebraska, Livonia, 48150, is taking orders.

The Northwest Chapter CARIH (Children's Asthma Research Institute and Hospital) is selling two cards, including this picture of a Christmas Tree drawn by a young asthma sufferer, to aid medical care and treatment of intractable asthmatic children and research on the disease. The cards are 20 cents each plus 50 cents for 50 or less, and orders may be made to Mrs. Irving Medow, 32021 Pembroke, Livonia, 48152.

"Winter Playground," a design by a young child, is the new card offered by the Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children this year. The skating scene is one of seven that may be purchased for prices ranging from 75 cents to $1.50 for a package of 10, with imprinting available at a small additional charge. Send orders to MAECD Hawthorn Chapter, 18471 Haggerty, Northville, 48167.

Star light-Star bright....

Children and a star make an attractive blue card for the Spinal Bifida Association of Michigan, raising money to help children born with the birth defect that is caused by a malformation of the central nervous system. Cards are $5 for a box of 25, and orders are being taken by Mrs. W.G. Hoffman, 38344 N. Rickham Court, Westland.

A holiday wreath on a green background is the offering of the Tribute Fund Committee, affiliated with the United Community Services of Metropolitan Detroit. The cards and holiday stationery are available at $30 per hundred from The Tribute Fund, United Community Services, 51 W. Warren, Detroit, 48201.

The National Foundation for Sudden Infant Death, Inc., has boxes of 25 cards for $4.25, with imprinting available for a small additional charge. Proceeds from the sales will aid research into the sudden infant death syndrome. For information on ordering, call Linda Lopez, 44261 Village Court, Plymouth, or Kay Jackson, 325 E. Maplehurst, Ferndale.

Madonna and Child is one of six cards, ranging in price from $1.50 to $4.25 for a box of 25, offered by the Braille Transcribers of Nardin Park United Methodist Church in Farmington. Call Lillian Cogsdill, 33724 Bernadine, Farmington.

She's the top gymn teacher

By MARGARET MILLER

Diane Corbett, who qualified for school administration work but went back to teaching because she missed working with the kids, is Michigan's "Outstanding Physical Educator of 1975."

Ms. Corbett, a member of the Franklin High School faculty for seven years, received a plaque denoting the coveted award last week when the Michigan Association for Health, Education and Recreation held its convention in Troy.

And on hand when she was honored was Lori Pimlott, the Franklin High student who months ago decided this teacher was someone special and thought everyone should know about her.

"LORI'S NOT ON ANY of the teams I coach," said Ms. Corbett. "She's just a good student who seemed to enjoy the classes and did well."

Lori, for her part, said she'd worked with a lot of teachers and considered Ms. Corbett "really good—one of the best."

Because Lori is thinking some of going into physical education as a career, she knew about the American Alliance for Health, Education and Recreation and wrote to that organization in Washington.

"They forwarded my letter to the Michigan association," she said, and a few weeks ago Lori, Ms. Corbett and others at Franklin learned of the selection.

It is quite unusual for a student to make the nomination for this top award, Ms. Corbett said. Usually the school administrators do the honors.

WHAT MAKES this teacher outstanding in this student's eyes?

"Dedication," Lori said quickly. "She always would tell us it's not how well we do but how hard we try."

Ms. Corbett insisted "I just teach the class, and try to make them enjoy it while learning something."

"They have enough trouble with rough academic courses," she added. "I try to help them have a little fun in their lives."

That she too enjoys the classes she heads is evident from the fact that, after earning an educational specialist degree at Wayne State University she was promoted to administration work, but lasted only a few months outside the gym.

"I had thought that was what I wanted," she said, "but I missed teaching and asked to go back."

Ms. Corbett said she felt physical education classes in general go very well at Franklin "and it's because the staff is especially close."

"We all get along well and work well together," she added.

Program topic is alcoholism

"Alcoholism—the most untreated treatable disease" is the topic of a free public program scheduled Thursday, Oct. 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the Fisher auditorium of Providence Hospital, 16001 W. Nine Mile, Southfield.

The program, part of the hospital community health education series, will be led by Alfred C. Cavaiani, director of the alcoholism therapy division at Providence.

Tree planting program OK'd by commission

Plymouth's 1975 tree planting program was given the go-ahead Monday night when the city commission approved the purchase of 87 trees.

The commission accepted a bid of $3,851 from Harold Thomas Nursery in Livonia, recommended by Ken Vogras, DPW superintendent, and Gordon Limburg, city purchasing agent. Only one other bid had been submitted. It was for $4,312.

Vogras said the trees will replace trees which have been removed by the city, but 90 per cent will be planted in new locations.

THE DEATH toll of city trees to Dutch elm disease has shown a downward trend for the last few years.

The stand along Penniman Avenue has survived along with many other old trees throughout the city. A concentrated spraying program by the city evidently has been effective.

The new trees are a mixture of maples, (red and Norway), honey locust, English oak, green spire linden and Kimberly blue ash.

Trees have been chosen to suit their locations. A survey was taken which included soil testing. The result is an individual choice for each planting.

Residents asking for trees to be planted in front of their property will be charged a nominal fee. City Manager Fred Yockey said the amount had not yet been determined.

Hilton preps for opening

Deane Baker, president of Plymouth-Hilton Inn, Inc., checks plans against reality to make sure all is in ready for the grand opening of the new inn. Baker will have a special opening Thursday, Oct. 23, to show off special features of the new facilities and is hoping for a grand opening on

Building increases

Volume of building in the City of Plymouth shows a substantial increase over last year's construction at this time.

Alan Gove, city engineer, says the high level of activity is due to alterations to existing commercial buildings.

Gove completed 39 multiple family housing inspections during the month of September.

Runners-up are James Scholtz and Michael Skinner, students at Plymouth Salem High School, and Ann Sullivan, a student at Plymouth Canton.

As winners of the competition, Nichols and Miss Malin will compete with other high school winners for two winning positions in the State of Michigan. The state winners will receive a $1,000 scholarship and an expense-paid trip to Virginia for the national competition.

Feminism will be topic

A workshop designed to explore how the environmental and feminist movements can be united to form strategy for social change will take place at Schoolcraft College Thursday, Oct. 30 from 8-10 p.m.

Workshop facilitators will be Sue Kaufman and Mary Sherwin.

Ms. Kaufman has a master's degree in environmental advocacy from the University of Michigan. She has participated actively in the feminist movement since 1972, and is currently working with Citizens for Better Care in Detroit on problems of nursing home care for the elderly.

Ms. Sherwin has a bachelor's degree in environmental studies from the University of Wisconsin, and is completing her master's degree in environmental advocacy at the University of Michigan.

She has worked for the Environmental Protection Agency and the Department of Interior, and is active in women's organizations.

"Mary and I had worked in both movements for several years," said Ms. Kaufman. "We came to understand that environmental quality and human equality cannot be achieved separately."

"The forum is designed to help participants learn to identify and solve real problems," stated Ms. Sherwin. "We will tackle the issues that the group itself feels are most important."

The meeting will be held in room B210 of the Liberal Arts building. It is the first women's resource center open forum of the season.

Women offered speed reading

Speeded reading and study efficiency plus written communication are two refresher courses being offered by the Center for Continuing Education of Women of the University of Michigan.

The courses are tailored to the individual needs of women who are in the process of returning to the classroom.

Speeded reading and study efficiency begins Monday, Oct. 27 from 7:30-9:30 p.m. The five sessions focus on increasing reading rate and comprehension, and learning techniques to cover assignments more efficiently.

Written communication begins Tuesday, Oct. 28 from 7:30-9 p.m. Its five sessions focus on scheduling work, using the library and practicing writing for papers, essays and reports.

Cost of each class is $15, and registration is required.

Auction to aid wheelchair pageants

Pat Karl, who was chosen Ms. Wheelchair Michigan in a recent contest at Madonna College, will join with radio disk jockey Dave Schaefer in the role of guest auctioneer for an art sale scheduled Saturday, Oct. 25, at 7 p.m. in the Gallery Art Center, 3722 W. Twelve Mile, Berkley.

The art auction will be sponsored by the Mobility Awareness Team, sponsor with the Jaycees of Michigan of the wheelchair pageant that has been held at Madonna for two years.

Proceeds will help raise funds for the 1976 event and cover expenses for Ms. Wheelchair Michigan for the remainder of her 1975-76 reign. The pageant is held to recognize women who use wheelchairs for their poise, personality and accomplishments despite a handicap.

Multi-cultural class planned

What can parents and teachers do to be models of non-racist, non-sexist behavior for children?

This and other related questions will be explored in a course called "Multi-cultural Learning for Children" offered by the community services program of Wayne County Community College from Monday, Oct. 27 to Dec. 15.

The course will meet from 6:30-8:30 p.m. in the college's Rosary Center, 8551 Greenfield, Detroit.

The course will teach skills and methods of conveying multi-ethnic, non-racist and non-sexist attitudes and behavior to children. It will feature small-group sessions, assignments and evaluation of books, films, toys and other resource material.

Cost of the course is $13 and registration should be completed by Thursday, Oct. 23.

Free immunization

Nathan Hart, 1, doesn't seem to like the idea of getting a shot by nurse Sylvia Brownie. Nathan's mother, Sally Hart is taking advantage of the free immunization clinic Saturday, Oct. 25, in Garden City Presbyterian Church, 1841 Middle Belt Road. The clinic, which will be open from 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., is sponsored by the church in cooperation with the Wayne County Health Department and Garden City Hospital. Vaccines available will include DTP, Td, oral polio, measles, rubella and mumps. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel).

Islamic Center helps teens visit Mideast

BY SHERRY KAHAN

The best way for a young person to travel to exotic lands these days is through an educational or religious program.

For Livonian Dina Mansour, it was a combination of both. She was able to wander through fascinating centers of culture in the Mideast through the help of the Islamic Center of Detroit, where she teaches Sunday school.

The program with which she was involved was educational, sponsored by the Supreme Council for Islamic Affairs in Egypt.

In a school in Alexandria, Egypt, she studied the Arabic language as well as the Islamic religion. She also listened to political leaders, and had time left over for sight-seeing.

THE TRIP WAS an adventure from the very beginning.

"Most of the students who flew over traveled together," said Dina, whose father, Tahir Mansour, also was on the plane as an advisor to the group and to take care of business affairs in the Mideast.

"There was a bomb threat in regard to the plane so we were kept in Germany for six hours. This caused us to miss our connecting flight. So we had to stay in Beirut, Lebanon for two days.

"They put us up in a hotel and we went to see some beautiful caves.

"There were no other tourists in the hotel because of civil disturbances in the city. It seemed like a ghost town. The 27 people in our group were the only ones in a hotel with 11 floors.

"But nothing happened to us, although the soldiers at the airport forbade us to take pictures. They were afraid someone might see the flash and shoot."

BECAUSE of the delay, no one was waiting for the group when it flew into Cairo.

"We had to wait six hours to get a bus to come down from Alexandria to take us to the school," said Dina, a senior at Churchill High School. "We got there at 2:30 a.m., and had to be up at 7 a.m. for classes."

But then came the fun part.

"At first we thought we would have problems in communication," noted Dina. "But we had a great time. We picked out people who knew a little English and talked to them. The second night we had a talent show."

"We taught the whole school to sing 'Power to the People.' Most of them didn't know what they were singing, but it caught on."

ALEXANDRIA is a beautiful city, according to the Livonia teenager. Most every building is made of stone and looks white. The temperature was not too hot and was cool at night.

"We went sightseeing every day, visiting beaches and the Roman ruins," she said. "We saw King Farouk's palace. It was fantastic, with beautiful wall hangings. It's now a museum."

"We visited the Al Abbas mosque. The American group was awestruck. The walls of the whole place are inlaid with mother-of-pearl, copper, silver and turquoise mosaics. We had to take off our shoes to go in."

Women's lib has caused few ripples in the area according to Dina. "Women are placed on a pedestal," she stated. "They have large families, and they seem content to stay home and take care of them. They certainly don't resent it. They have a good time."

"They follow the Muslim rule of covering up. We followed this tradition and didn't wear sleeveless shirts, shorts or short skirts."

IT IS NECESSARY to take a test to go to high school, but girls are equal as far as education goes, she pointed out.

"The girls and guys are smart as whips," she declared. "They learn English in grades 10-12, and speak pretty well. At school, boys outnumber the girls. But I met two girls going into political science and another going into theater."

Even while talking to many people and taking classes, Dina did not miss out on the traditional thing to do when in Egypt.

"I went with a friend to her grandfather's house in Cairo," she said. "We saw the pyramids and the Nile River, and I rode on a camel. It's bumpy, and I felt awfully high off the ground."

BUT WHAT TURNED on Dina the most was the welcome she received from her relatives in Jordan.

"That was the best part of the trip," she smiled. "I met all my aunts and uncles and loads of cousins. I was really impressed with them."

A waterpipe, a replica of a mosque and a small statue of a beverage vendor are some of the souvenirs Dina Mansour brought back to Livonia from Egypt, Lebanon and Jordan. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

Riding high on a camel at the pyramids is Dina Mansour, who recently saw many sights on a Mideast trip.

Anniversary service set by GC UMC

The First United Methodist Church of Garden City will have an anniversary service and luncheon Sunday, Oct. 26 to mark the coming of Methodism to the Garden City area.

Bishop Dwight E. Loder, the denomination's area leader, will preach on the topic "Nevertheless" at the 10:45 a.m. service. The fellowship luncheon will follow.

The visiting speaker was president of Garrett Theological Seminary in Evanston, Ill., before being elected bishop in 1964.

The present Garden City church had its beginnings in the ministry of the Rev. Marcus Swift, an early settler in the area and preacher for a circuit that included Perrinsville, south of Ann Arbor Trail and east of Merri-man Road.

He visited that area in 1835, and a Michigan historical plaque at the corner of Merri-man and Warren honors his coming to the preaching place.

The first church was built in Perrinsville in 1847, and it was replaced by a larger building in 1885. This building was moved in 1936 to the site of the present building at 6443 Merri-man, and 22 years later that structure was razed and the present sanctuary built.

The Rev. Glenn Kjellberg has been pastor since 1970.

The anniversary celebration also will include an anniversary banquet Saturday, Oct. 25 at 6:30 p.m. The speaker will be the Rev. Ronald Brunker, pastor of the church from 1936 to 1939 and now historian of the Detroit conference, serving a church in Rochester.

The Rev. Eskil Fredrickson of Bay City, pastor from 1956 to 1966, will be guest minister Sunday, Nov. 2.

Jobless scene leads to service project

By MARGARET MILLER
A group of men at Aldersgate United Methodist Church in Redford Township have looked closely at today's unemployment scene and found a fitting way to give Christian service.

They are serving as lay counselors to help out-of-work people deal with the trauma such a situation presents and find ways to improve their lives.
These men, explained the Rev. William G. Wager, pastor of the church located at 10000 Beech Daly, brought their suggestion for a new kind of church service forward several months ago.
"We knew of people, in our church and out of it," the minister said, "who had found that losing a job was a terrible experience.
"These men, some of whom had been through the experience and understood better than anyone, wanted to see if they could help."
SO THE GROUP, chaired by Melvin Turner, began study and training ses-

Immanuel church marks 110 years

Immanuel Lutheran Church, 27035 Ann Arbor Trail, Dearborn Heights, will mark its 110th anniversary with a special service and a buffet dinner Sunday, Oct. 26.
Members and former members are invited to the anniversary service at 10:30 a.m. The dinner will follow.
Seminarian Carl F. Trosien of Concordia Seminary, a life-long member of Immanuel and son of the present pastor, the Rev. Carl Trosien, will be speaker for the service.
Immanuel church had its beginnings July 18, 1865, in the home of Adam Ruppert on Trumbull Avenue in Detroit, near the present Tiger Stadium.
Its first building was on Trumbull Avenue in Detroit, near the present site of Tiger Stadium, and the congregation moved eight years later to a site at 17th and Pine. That building was removed to make way for freeway construction, and the church relocated in Dearborn Heights, dedicating its present sanctuary in 1968.

'Our purpose is to help an unemployed person develop an inner attitude which will be an effective showcase for the skills and abilities he has to offer.'

sions to improve their understanding of the problem involved and the way people react to it.
Rev. Wager said the group's purpose is "to deal with the emotional problems involved, rather than to act as an employment agency."
John Dutton, a retiree who describes himself as "a sucker for self-improvement all my life," is co-chairman of the project.
"The basic problem is that one's personhood is closely tied to the work he does," Dutton explained. "He sees his value as a person reflected in his job classification, where he works and the pay he receives.
"When these are taken away, he becomes a 'non-person.' He feels shame, guilt and panic. Along with these there may be seething rage and resentment against the individuals who may have been involved. He may find himself ringed in by fear, frustration and desperation."
Dutton added that efforts at job-hunting can just increase the problem, because each "no" takes away more pride and "his self-image takes a nosedive."

THE ALDERSGATE GROUP, Dutton said, is seeking to help in three ways.
"One is to help the person out of work to get himself together," he explained. "Then we want to bring human caring and spiritual resources to bear on the problem. And finally, we want to provide an affirming atmosphere in which the man out of work can feel he is not alone."

Dutton cited the case of one man who had been out of work for two years because of a back injury.
"In talking to him," he said, "we realized that the thing that interested him most was antique cars, so we zeroed in on that.
"Looking around in that field, entirely different from the one he had been in, he received an offer for a job at a salary that seemed a little low.
"Then, before he could even start, he had another offer for a job with higher pay, but he had given his word to the first prospective employer so he did not go back on it.
"He has since received a raise and is now more satisfied with his work than ever before."
DUTTON SAID anyone in the community is welcome to seek the assistance of the church group, and emphasized that any conversation with any of its members will be kept completely confidential.
The first contact should be with the pastor at the church, he added.
"Our purpose," he concluded, is to help people develop inner attitudes that will be effective showcases for the skills and abilities they have to offer."

3 Westland churches join for service

Three Westland churches, all marking 15th anniversaries, will join for an ecumenical service Sunday, Oct. 26 in Kirk of Our Savior, 36660 Cherry Hill.
The service, also including the congregations of St. Richard Catholic Church and Good Shepherd Reformed Church, will begin at 7:30 p.m.
The Rev. Victor Clore, director of the Christian service office of the Archdiocese of Detroit, will be the speaker. The service also will include a combined anthem by the choirs of the three churches and a separate selection by each choir. Refreshments will follow the service.

Fr. Clore, ordained in 1966, has served an inner-city parish, St. Francis De Sales, and has been working in ecumenism and with teen retreats.
Kirk of the Savior, founded in 1958, met in the Cady school until its present building was erected 15 years ago.

MT. HOPE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, 30330 Schoolcraft, Livonia, will play host to the Rev. Philotheos Zikas, pastor of the Protestant Evangelical churches of Alexandroupolis and Ferre in northern Greece, during the weekend of Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 25 and 26.

The pastor, who was condemned to die by both the Turks and the Germans and lost all his possessions in refugee flights five times, will address the Mt. Hope men's fellowship breakfast at 7 a.m. Saturday and then will lead an open laymen's seminary from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.
He also will preach at the 10 a.m. worship service Sunday, Oct. 26.
Rev. Zikas' denomination in Greece is one that has for many years been a missionary project of the National Association of Congregational Churches and for several years a specific project of Mt. Hope Congregational.

ST. ANDREW EPISCOPAL CHURCH, 16360 Hubbard, Livonia, will host the Rt. Rev. H. Coleman McGehee Jr., bishop of the Diocese of Michigan, on Sunday, Oct. 26.
A highlight of his visit will be dedication of the churches newly-remodeled library. He also will visit Christian education classes, meet with the St. Andrew Vestry at 1 p.m. and will be present at a service of communion for the deaf at 4 p.m.

WARD UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Farmington Road at Six Mile, will present the Krieger musical family from Ft. Collins, Colo., in a vesper hour program of vocal and instrumental music Sunday, Oct. 26 at 7 p.m.
The family includes Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Krieger and their children, Kevin, Kelly and Kristi and all will participate in the music.

St. Richard's first mass was held June 26, 1960, in the Madison School. The Rev. Thomas G. Schmitt was the first priest and he was present to dedicate the present building. The parish now has a pastoral team of two priests and three sisters.

Good Shepherd conducted its first worship service May 3, 1959 in the Tonguish School and dedicated its building in March, 1961.

Childbirth classes set

A series of childbirth education classes will be held on the Orchard Ridge Campus of Oakland Community College starting Nov. 5.

Sessions will meet Wednesday from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in room G-104. Cost is $21.

The classes are conducted by the community services division of the college in cooperation with the Lamaze Childbirth Education Association of Livonia.

Classes should be taken during the last trimester of pregnancy. Husbands are encouraged to attend. Written permission from the attending physician is required at the first meeting. Couples are asked to bring bed pillows, and a blanket or mat to the first class.

Classes will be taught by registered nurses. Couples will learn comfort measures for pregnancy, labor and delivery, and will be trained in neuromuscular control and breathing techniques for each stage of labor.

A film showing a Lamaze birth experience and breastfeeding information also will be included. For further information contact Mrs. James Grey, 30669 Mountain, Westland.

MR. AND MRS. ORA GLASS

400 attend gala for 50th

Four hundred friends and relatives helped Mr. and Mrs. Ora Glass of Plymouth celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary with a party at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Plymouth.

The couple, residents of Plymouth throughout their married life, repeated their wedding vows before the Rev. William Stahl in the First Baptist Church of Plymouth before the party.

They were married Oct. 12, 1925, in Ohio and are parents of five daughters and five sons.

Their children are Mrs. Irma Larick, Mrs. Dorothy Lee, Mrs. Doris McTurner, Mrs. Carol Lilley, Ronald Glass, Carl Glass and Gary Glass, all of Plymouth, Mrs. Donna Clark and Wayne Glass of Livonia, and the late Robert Glass.

There are 34 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

Among the out-of-town guests at the anniversary party were two granddaughters, Mrs. James Conley, who journeyed from Winchester, Va., with her husband, and Mrs. Monta Stewart of Hastings, Mich.

Mr. Glass is retired from Greene Motors in Livonia and his wife retired after 10 years custodial work with the Plymouth school district.

They also have four great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Fitzpatrick of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sander, also of Detroit.

Nathan has a brother, Todd, 2. Their grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wesley of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Piwowar of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Criner of Dearborn Heights announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Leah Nichole, on Sept. 22 in Oakwood Hospital.

Mrs. Criner is the former Pamela Witte of Westland.

German foods to be featured

German foods prepared in a blender will be the feature of "Octoberfest" to be presented Friday, Oct. 31 at 1 and 7 p.m. by Kitchen Glamor, 26770 Grand River, Redford Township.

The demonstration will also include short cuts for sauces, tortes and dips.

Toastmasters meet Tuesdays

If you are nervous about speaking in public and want to improve your communications skills, the Dearborn Dynamic Toastmasters Club might be just what the doctor ordered.

Township, Westland, Garden City, Wayne, Dearborn and Dearborn Heights are invited to attend.

Tax Shelters that aren't just for the rich.

If you earn $50,000, congratulations. You're probably in the 50% Bracket.

If you're in the 50% Tax Bracket, you've probably got a beautiful cash flow going.

Between you and the I.R.S. Paine Webber wants you to know that we're one of the leaders in creating tax sheltered financial plans for our clients in situations just like yours.

Our Tax Shelter plans run the gamut from relatively conservative to aggressive. Some are riskier than others. Some might be right and some might be wrong for you.

These Tax Shelters include Real Estate, Cattle Feeding Programs and Oil and Gas Drilling Funds. They're not tricks, loopholes or gimmicks.

And depending on your own personal situation, they can mean considerable tax savings in what we feel are sound investments.

If this all sounds interesting to you, please send for our free booklet, "Tax Incentive Investments."

After all, when your pie is getting bigger, why should you get less of it to eat?

Please send me "Tax Incentive Investments." BE-12

Schoolcraft presents Mask and Mime Theatre

The Mask and Mime Theatre of Jack Hill and Graciela Binaghi will present selections from "The Creation of the World," "The Chess Game," and "Fractured Fairy Tales" as part of its program on Oct. 28 at 8:00 p.m. in the Clarenceville High Auditorium, 20155 Middle Belt Road, Livonia. The program is a presentation of the Schoolcraft College Cultural and Public Affairs Series.

"Dance Magazine" critic Rose Ann Thom noted last season, "Jack Hill and Graciela Binaghi are the sole components of the Mask and Mime Theatre. Not that they need anyone else. Their sketches are especially marvelous because of their perfect timing. I can't think of a more sensitive introduction to Mime."

Jack and Graciela met in 1969 while attending Marcel Marceau's famous School of Mime. When Marcel was chosen to star in William Castle's feature length mime production, "Shanks," he personally selected Jack to be featured.

The Mask and Mime Theatre is a colorful gallery of truth, comedy, dance and music. Its stars are disciplined and dedicated actors, dancers and mimes. Their interpretations bring their audiences to and into a contemporary and powerful world of silence.

Students of drama, dance and especially mime are invited to attend a free workshop in the Liberal Arts Theatre on the Schoolcraft College campus on Oct. 27 at 1:00 p.m.

Tickets for the performance at Clarenceville are $2.50 general admission and $1.50 for Schoolcraft students.

They may be purchased at the College Bookstore and at the door, if available. Phone 591-6400, extension 224 for information.

Enjoy America's past at Greenfield Village

Anxious to experience America's past this bicentennial era? You needn't travel East. History is as close as Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn.

With the approach of America's 200th birthday, the village and museum have scheduled a full calendar of events designed to recreate the days when our nation was new. A diversified slate of special events, exhibits, theater presentations and lectures are scheduled now through the end of 1976.

Bicentennial activities range from concerts of 18th century music and the 1976 famous early movies series highlighting America's history on film to a premiere special exhibit of some 250 priceless and unpublished manuscripts of the colonial period. Special events like the colonial military muster, the old time summer festival and "Let Freedom Ring" ceremonies bring back color and spirit of America's early years.

For information about these and other village and museum activities, write for a copy of the Bicentennial Events Calendar, Department TC-76, Henry Ford Museum, Dearborn, 48121.

Graciela Binaghi and Jack Hill bring the talents of the Mask and Mime Theatre to the Clarenceville High Auditorium on Oct. 28.

'Personals' deserves second look

By CRAIG REYNOLDS
Special Writer

Few shows deserve a second look, but "Personals" at the Dinner Theatre of Detroit in Mercy College promised significant change from its laborious opening in January. From the entree to coffee and curtain call, "Personals" has been remolded into a compact and altogether pleasing evening. A choice of two main dishes and table service have replaced the buffet, while the original 25 songs and endless visuals have been cut to a manageable length.

Cutting went so far as to leave the sparkling Mary Ann Paquette without a solo, but "Altoona Waltz" was restored to the program for her.

Gone completely is Barbara Bredius, replaced by Barbara Barrow, wife of composer-conductor Michael Peter Smith.

REMAINING ARE 20 neatly crafted songs, a pitch for Sly's Cureall and Benjamin Franklin, all connected in sometimes tenuous fashion to a progression of personal ads from newspapers old and not-so-old.

The narrated ads still tend to drag out the show, but at least a semblance of order and connection now exists between the visual and vocal material.

A variety of style now distinguishes the songs, which were formerly punched out indiscriminately in country-western or rhythm-blues style. Most notable is Phil Esser's rendition of "Young Men Who Speak of the Heart," reminiscent of the worst of both Andy Williams and Johnny Mathis.

Less successful is the rereading of "Gypsy Lover" in mock supernatural, complete with blacklight, weird make-up and meaningless movement, not an advisable first-act finale.

STILL, "PERSONALS" has become much better entertainment with Esser's economical, even austere direction, and the rich textures of John Loviska's lighting and Susan Esser's costumes.

The revision also gives Michael Peter Smith the opening spot for the show, in which he tailors the time to suit the timelessness of the coming couple of hours.

From beginning to end, and for most of the middle, "Personals" is now a far better show, with a promise of even more in the future.

The curtain call slot is used for trying out new numbers, the latest proposal being the absurdly funny "I Married A Spade," sung by Ms. Paquette to the redoubtable Charlie Latimer.

The dinner and the show still feel like a dollar too much; nevertheless, "Personals" at Mercy College remains one of the best package deals in town.

EMU adds music therapy

An interdisciplinary program leading to a bachelor's degree in music therapy was approved recently by the Eastern Michigan University Board of Regents.

"Music therapy," a proposal for the program explains, "is the use of music and music-related activities as prescribed and supervised by qualified personnel to assist a patient in achieving a therapeutic goal."

Administered through the music department, the program will require 12 semester hours of music therapy courses and will include classes in music, health, physical education and recreation, sociology and anthropology and psychology and special education.

Music therapists, the proposal states, are employed in a variety of medical, educational and social services agencies.

New courses include "Psychology of Music," a course studying learning theories and their application to music. Another, "Influence of Music on Behavior," examines the physiological and psychological effects of music.

"Music in Therapy" is a new course examining the practice and technique of music therapy in the treatment of children and adults in areas of mental and/or physical impairments, behavior disorders and geriatrics. An advanced course includes observation and visitation in clinical settings.

During the senior year, the degree candidate will spend six months of clinical training in a psychiatric hospital affiliated with the National Association for Music Therapy.

The program includes an optional fifth year of study leading to teacher certification in elementary and secondary music.

Halfback Jim Kozlowski shows the determination Bishop Borgess players displayed against the state's number-one-ranked high school football team, Birmingham Brother Rice, before bowing, 7-0, on a last-period Warrior touchdown. Kozlowski was held to 55 yards in the contest by the rugged Rice defense which set up the only score of the game. (Staff photo by Art Emanuel)

Spartans fall, 7-0 Rice nips Borgess

By JIM BRADLEY

Bishop Borgess has a very good football team.

Just ask number one ranked Birmingham Brother Rice—and its coaches—and the estimated 4,000 chilled fans who saw the Spartans actually outplay the Warriors before a last-period touchdown gave the visitors a 7-0 victory.

"I'm as proud of these kids as I can be," exclaimed Borgess head coach Fred Mushinski after the bruising defensive struggle ended. "Most people didn't give us much of a chance, but Brother Rice knows we've got a pretty good football team and I feel we could just as easily have won the game as not."

The game was scoreless for three quarters as both defensive units hit with great ferocity. Brother Rice and Borgess each recovered three fumbles jarred loose by the hard-hitting tacklers, while the Warriors picked off two Keith Studzinski passes.

Borgess, whose stout defense held Brother Rice to 179 total net yards, had 10 first downs to only seven for Brother Rice and gained 197 net yards.

However, it was one defensive surge by the Warriors that determined the outcome of the classic struggle for first place in the Central Division of the Detroit Catholic League and gave Brother Rice its 20th consecutive win.

That key series of downs came about four minutes into the final quarter. After Borgess took a punt on its 22 yardline, Rice rose up and threw the Spartans for a four-yard loss. Then quarterback Studzinski dropped back to pass on the next two downs and was nailed by the hard-charging Warrior defense both times.

Leading the fired-up visitors were linebackers K.C. Ryan and Dan MacLean, tackles Steve Fuller and Jay McGlinchey and nose guard Steve Arkwright. They nailed Studzinski on the three. On fourth down, Jim Kozlowski, who gained 55 yards in 20 carries, lofted a 38-yard punt which Joe Fontanesi returned to the Borgess 26.

Three running plays moved to a first down on the Spartan 15 and another run picked up two. Then Warrior quarterback Don Hendricks, who completed three of five passes for 34 yards, faked a handoff, dropped back and hit tight end Terry Simmons who slid quietly into the right part of the endzone.

Bishop Borgess had nine of its 11 players going both ways while only two of Rice's team saw double duty. Singled out for special praise by the coaching staff were defensive stalwarts Joe Dudzinski, a linebacker who played a whale of a game; defensive tackles John Wedesky and Mike Ostach and injured defensive end Kevin McKee who played well despite his ailment.

Safety Jim Kozlowski was also given a hearty pat on the back for his outstanding defensive work, as well as punting and trying to dent the big Rice defense.

The Spartans had two deep penetrations. The first carried to the Rice 19 yardline in the first quarter and the second moved to the Warrior 17 when a pass interception ended the threat with 36 seconds left in the game.

On its first period march, Borgess quarterback Studzinski was injured slightly when tackled and sophomore Steve Michuta took over the controls and moved the Spartans methodically down the field to the 19 yardline. On first-and-10, a fumble was grabbed by Rice.

Studzinski, who completed eight of 15 passes for 134 yards while Michuta had two-for-two for 32 yards, moved Borgess on their long last period march after Rice had scored.

The poised senior, who also plays defensive halfback, took the Spartans from their own nine-yard line all the way down to the Warriors' 17, where defensive halfback Pat Callaghan pilfered the pigskin.

The loss drops Borgess to a 3-2-1 overall mark and 3-1 in the league while Brother Rice is 6-0 (five of them shutouts) and 4-0 in the Central League with DeLaSalle left to play in the regular season.

Assistant Borgess coach Gene Grewe echoed head coach Fred Mushinski's high praise for the kids.

"I have nothing but the highest feeling for the performance our boys gave out there," Grewe said. "When they came dragging off the field after the game, nine of them going both ways, they were a tired group of athletes. They gave all they had and are a tremendous group of kids."

"In our eyes, they're just as good as Brother Rice was Sunday."

Grewe made special mention of a mistake in the schedule. "Borgess plays at 7:30 p.m. this Saturday night at Livonia Bentley High School against Notre Dame High School," he stressed, "and Notre Dame has beaten U.D. Catholic Central and DeLaSalle and is the only team to score on Brother Rice in six games this year."

Franklin, Clarenceville make state golf finals

Two teams from Livonia, Franklin in class A and Clarenceville in Class B, competed in the state golf finals Saturday, the first time either school had gone that far.

Coach Bob Visser's Patriot team earned the right by finishing second in the 22-team regionals the week before at Brae Burn golf course in Plymouth Township, while Bob Wolf's linksmen also were runnersup among 19 teams at Monroe's Raisin River.

"Although we finished 15th among the state finalists, we feel they were the cream of the crop and are proud to represent Franklin at the state level," Visser said.

"You know, this is only our second year of golf at Franklin after it was cut due to lack of funds for about three years, and the boys deserve a lot of credit."

FRANKLIN'S TEAM score at the state finals was 366.

"It was raining, windy and cold, which makes playing very difficult," Visser said. "I'm not excusing our boys because the other teams faced the same conditions but it would have been a lot better if the weather could have been warm."

Visser's squad was paced in the regionals by John Lyons who took second place with a 75. Teammates Dave Winkler and Larry O'Neill fired 82 and 83, and Glenn Murray had 88.

IT WAS much the same story with Bob Wolf, now in his fourth year as Clarenceville golf coach. "We tied for 14th place among 21 teams at the state level and when you consider these are all regional winners, it makes you feel pretty good."

Scott Miller came on strong in the state finals, posting an 83 which gave him a tie for low scorers among the Detroit metropolitan area players. Teammate Steve Hochberger fired an 86, Russ Lalonde, 90, and Terry McCleary, 105, for a team total of 364. They were 30 strokes behind champion Jackson County Western which edged Tecumseh by one stroke in sudden death playoff.

In the regionals at Monroe, the Trojans finished second to Madison Heights Bishop Foley by three strokes, 317-320, with the first three regional finishers going to the state finals.

Hochberger was hot with a 74, followed by Lalonde and McCleary's 78's and Scott Miller's 90. Lalonde and McCleary are only sophomores and should give Clarenceville strength for the next two years.

"I thought the boys did very well," Wolf appraised, "and I'm very please to have gone to the state tournament. It's something we'll all remember. We just wish the weather had been nicer."

Lahey, Rudel pace Hawk win

Linda Lahey was a double winner and Karen Rudel helped in two relay victories as well as capturing the individual medley Tuesday as Farmington Harrison's girls' swimming team defeated Plymouth Canton, 94-75.

It was Harrison's third victory of the season against eight dual meet defeats.

Miss Lahey posted firsts in the 50-yard freestyle and 100-yard breaststroke to share top honors with Miss Rudel. The latter won the 200-yard individual medley and also swam on the Hawks' winning 200-yard medley and 400-yard freestyle relay teams.

Four area teams aim for titles

By JIM BRADLEY

It's getting down to "title time" in most of the high school football leagues and two Livonia teams, Franklin and Churchill, battle this weekend for supremacy in their conferences.

Franklin, ranked second in Region II in the race for a spot in the state football playoffs, tangles with an improving Thurston Eagle team on Saturday afternoon.

Armand Vigna's crew has clinched at least a tie for the Northwest Suburban League title and a win at Thurston's homecoming would give them an unprecedented third outright championship in a row.

There will be a vital clash Friday afternoon over at Livonia Churchill's field when powerful Farmington Harrison invades Charger country to decide the Western Six race.

Harrison and Churchill have identical league and season records of 4-0 and 5-1, respectively and, of course, Churchill still remembers last year's Harrison 37-0 clobbering of the Chargers to take league honors. John Herrington's Hawks are powered this year by quarterback Jeff Thorne and halfbacks Mike Bowden and Paul Rogind.

Ken Kaestner, who always seems to put a tough defense together, has done it again this year and the Chargers are living mainly on their defense.

Harrison is rated third in Region II for state playoff action.

Clarenceville is tied with Dearborn Heights Annapolis with 3-1 marks atop the Metro West League and has a good chance for at least a title tie.

Garden City East, which hosts tough John Glenn Friday night, is hoping for a Panther win and a Franklin loss to Thurston so East and Franklin can share the Northwest Suburban crown.

Here's a rundown on all area grid action this weekend.

FRIDAY, OCT. 24

John Glenn at G.C. East, 8 p.m.

East has been living on its defense and QB Wally Krol has provided enough offense, along with halfback Keith Sieczkowski, to still be 4-1-1. However, Krol was injured last week and his status is doubtful. Glenn, also with tough defense, and flying Fred Shoemaker and QB Todd Deluca make Rockets tough. Looks like Rockets, barely.

Harrison at Churchill, 3:30 p.m.

It'll be Farmington Harrison's powerful backs against Churchill's superb defense. Irresistible force against immovable object?

QB Mike Streicher and company will have to generate offense as well as mates holding the Hawks. Charger coach Ken Kaestner has done good job, but Harrison looks strong enough to prevail.

Melvindale at G.C. West, 7:30 p.m.

These two teams tied for Tri-River League title last year with Southgate. This year all three are slipping as Taylor Kennedy is 5-0 while tri-champs are each 3-2 in league play. Melvindale lost its best running back due to injury and West keeps changing its offense, scoring one TD in last two games. It could end in a 0-0 tie.

Allen Park at Salem, 8 p.m.

It's homecoming for Rocks and Allen Park has only won one game in six tries. Salem's inexperienced team is starting to jell and could easily have beaten Dearborn last week before losing on a late field goal. Rocks roll.

Bentley at Dearborn, 3:30 p.m.

Bentley's Bulldogs are 2-3 in Sub Eight play and could pull an upset over a good Pioneer team. Dearborn has stumbled of late but has a little too much.

Oak Park at Clarenceville, 8 p.m.

Trojans homecoming and a chance to at least share Metro West title should carry Ralph Weddle's team past Oak Park, a 14-12 victim of Clarenceville earlier this year.

Canton at

Waterford Mott, 8 p.m.

Chiefs travel to Waterford and will have a tough time with the Mott squad. Canton could pull upset, but it looks like Mott.

Saturday, Oct. 25

Franklin at Thurston, 2 p.m.

It's homecoming for Don Riehl's Eagles and he would like nothing better than to derail Franklin Express. Thurston has been coming on of late, but Patriots have been there all year. Thurston is primed for upset with Gary Abundis and Dennis Kuschel along with QB Roy Pilgrian. Franklin is loaded in all positions. A hunch says Thurston will pull upset, but reflection (and Franklin poise) says Patriots continue to roll.

Milford at Stevenson, 2 p.m.

Jack Reardon's got a lot of mileage from his boys this year and has done a fine job. Last week's loss to Walled Lake Central took chance for Inter-Lakes title away, but Stevenson has a happy homecoming as Ron Colone continues his fine receiving.

St. Agatha at

St. Florian, 7:30 p.m.

Harvey Heitman's Aggies are 1-2 in the West Bracket of Catholic League and should even record at 2-2 in this game at Hamtramck's Keyworth stadium. That is, unless they look ahead to top-ranked Wyandotte Mount Carmel game next week.

Notre Dame at

Bishop Borgess, 7:30 p.m.

Schedule mistake has some wondering, but game will be Saturday night at 7:30 at Livonia Bentley High School. After tremendous game against Brother Rice in losing cause, Spartans must guard against a let-down. Notre Dame is primed for this one.

Bulldogs bite Plymouth Panthers

The powerful Allen Park Junior Football Bulldog freshmen, JV and varsity squads rolled to their fifth victories as they swept the Plymouth Panthers Sunday at Allen Park.

Posting 19-0, 18-0 and 26-6 scores, the Bulldogs were too tough on defense for the punchless Panther teams.

IN THE FRESHMEN contest, the Panthers stayed close for three periods, trailing by a 7-0 count entering the final quarter. The Bulldogs, however, exploded for two TDs for a 19-0 win.

A disastrous second period doomed the JVs as Allen Park scored three times for an 18-0 halftime lead. Although the Panthers played well defensively in the second half, they threatened to score only once.

That came on a 40-yard pass play from John Molyneaux to Tom Reed who was hauled down on the Allen Park eight-yard line. A fumble on the next play cost the Panthers their only scoring opportunity of the day.

LARRY PLESIEWICZ raced 65 yards to paydirt on the Panthers' first offensive play of the varsity game.

However, the stunned Bulldogs rallied quickly to take the lead on a 90-yard pass play conversion.

On their next possession, Allen Park's Paul Carlisle bulled over from six yards out and the home team had a 14-6 first quarter lead.

Early in the second period, Carlisle scored again on a perfectly executed screen pass from the Panther 15 and the Bulldogs had a comfortable lead.

Although the Panther defense, led by Kyle Billings, did a good job of containing the running game, the Bulldog aerial attack and the Panthers' lack of a consistent offense were decisive factors.

Next week, the Panthers return to Plymouth to defend their city championship against the Plymouth Lions. The games will be played on Central School's field with the freshmen contest beginning at 1 p.m., JVs at 2:30 and varsity at 4 p.m.

Lions split with Cubs

The Plymouth Junior Football Lions battled to a draw with the Dearborn Heights Cubs Sunday at Central School in Plymouth.

After the freshmen won 8-0, the JVs tied 0-0 and the varsity was defeated 12-0.

TODD BEAUCHAMP rambled 28 yards for the game's only score as the Lion frosh pushed their season mark to 4-2.

Entering the final week of the season, the Blue and Silver still has a chance to slip past the Allen Park Bulldogs and the Ann Arbor Rams into the championship game in the Vince Lombardi Junior Football League.

Should they do so, they will be the only Plymouth team to qualify for the benefit games which are scheduled at the athletic field of the Centennial Educational Park on Sunday, Nov. 2.

THE LION JV defensive unit fought to a scoreless tie with an equally determined Cub squad.

Leading the Lions were Mike Fill-inworth, Bill Harris and Mike Maisner. The tie was the second for the Lions who enter their final season game with a 1-3-2 mark.

Despite good performances by Gary Dorn and John Gray, the varsity was unable to put any points on the board against the Cubs. Daren Johnson starred on defense as the Lions' record dropped to 1-5.

Canton runners end dismal year

By BILL COLLINS
Special Writer

The Plymouth Canton Chiefs cross country squad, in the midst of a dismal year, finished last in the Western Six league meet Tuesday afternoon at the Hickory Hills Golf Course in Wall- ed Lake.

Canton totaled 170 points among it's first five finishers. "We didn't run too bad considering the injury problems that we've had," philosophized coach Brian Schwall after the meet. Canton has been riddled with injuries for the past two weeks. Brian Bennett, the team's only senior, developed a thigh ailment a month ago and hasn't run up to par since.

Bill Murphy ran Tuesday with a cold and Mark Zaidek is still recovering from a broken nose.

Livonia Churchill won the meet as they have for the past five years, ever since the conference was formed. Ken Krug led the Chief harriers placing 29th out of a field of 42 with a three-mile time of 18:10. He was followed by Bill Murphy, Mark Zaidek, Bob Schomberger, and Alex Samsin.

Canton coach Schwall will not be returning next year, citing personal reasons for stepping down. Schwall, who announced his resignation before the beginning of the season, is a member of the Canton Township Board of Trustees.

"After 13 years I think it's about time I took a break," he said. As for next years prospects Schwall said "With only one senior graduating the whole team will be back. I feel it's going to take alot of time and work if they hope to get better."

Dillon paces cagers to victory over RU

By ROBIN NEIMAN
Special Writer

Plymouth Salem's girl cagers won against their toughest opponents in the league, Redford Union, last week by a score of 53-49.

The team also came up against Allen Park and left with a 44-24 victory. The squad is now number one in the Sub 8 League with a 5-0 mark and a 7-2 overall record.

During the entire game against RU, after an 11-11 tie at the end of the first quarter, the Salem team just couldn't seem to get going until the fourth quarter.

In the last quarter, Salem scored 22 points with a floor percentage of 49 while holding RU to nine points. The final score was Salem 53, RU 49.

Kathy Dillon paced the team with 20 points, most them in the fourth quarter, and Peggy Moore scored 17 while topping the team with 19 rebounds.

AGAINST ALLEN PARK, Salem led the whole game after an 8-8 tie in the beginning.

It wasn't until the fourth quarter, however, that the team really clicked by hitting from the floor at a 60 per cent mark to score 20 points.

Dillon led with 14 points, and Laurie Jacobson added six coming in late. Peggy Moore pulled in 18 rebounds.

Wendy Gray set a varsity diving record with 133.05 points which was good for a second place.

Shelansky took the other first for the Chiefs with a 1:11.7 in the 100 backstroke. The other second for Canton was a 5:06.1 in the 400 relay with the team of Peggy McElmeel, Gray, Janet Gottschalk and Tina Dewalt.

By ANNE SULLIVAN
Special Writer

The Plymouth Salem girls swim team won 93-78 in a non-league meet against John Glenn and then was defeated Oct. 16 by Trenton, 97-95.

Against Glenn, the Salem swimmers took first in nine events with the 200-yard relay team of Jill McCann, Sue and Marion Stanwood and Tamie Crespo setting a varsity record at 2:07.6.

Other Salem firsts were: 200 freestyle, Chris Leclair, 2:23.8; 200 individual medley, Marion Stanwood, 2:30.2; 50 freestyle, Crespo, 27.3; 100 butterfly, Sue Stanwood, 1:09; 100 freestyle, Crespo, 1:02; 500 freestyle, Marion Stanwood, 5:44.2; 100 backstroke, McCann, 1:10.5; and 100 breaststroke, Sue Stanwood, 1:17.5.

Crespo placed first and set a varsity record in the 50 freestyle at 26.9.

Marion Stanwood also came in first and set a varsity record in the 500 freestyle at 5:30.7.

The Salem took four more firsts against Trenton: Marion Stanwood in the 200 individual medley, 2:28; Sue Stanwood in the 100 butterfly, 1:09.8; Crespo in the 100 freestyle, 1:00.2; and Sue Stanwood in the 100 breaststroke, 1:18.3.

Cook-Warrick fare well in tennis tourney

Plymouth Salem's Karen Cook and Ceci Warrick made a fine showing in the girls' state tennis tournament held last Saturday in Kalamazoo.

Cook-Warrick breezed through their first match 6-0, 6-0, but in the second match ran into a strong Portage Northern doubles team and went down to defeat 6-4, 6-2.

The Salem tennis squad ended their season yesterday (Wednesday) with the Sub 8 league meet at Redford Union. The Rocks were co-favorites with the Trenton team which handed the Salem girls their only loss this season.

In the league meet, the line-up was: Cook, number one singles; Warrick, second; freshman Becky Crespo, third; and Ann Sulkowski, fourth. In doubles competition was Laura Hastings-Suzanne Hartnett, Cheryl Kordick-Nancy Grotz, and Lynne Stone-Barb Yockey.

Rocks fall to Dearborn

By THOMAS ZAIBEK
Special Writer

Fumbles were the downfall of the Plymouth Salem JVs for the second week in a row as they lost to Dearborn 28-20.

Both teams came into the game with 3-1 records and a good chance for a Suburban Eight JV title.

John Llewelling ran six yards in the opening minutes of the first quarter for Salem's first touchdown. The extra point was blocked.

Dearborn came back on a 50-yard TD pass play and converted for two points and scored again minutes later after the Rocks fumbled. Dearborn took advantage of another Salem fumble to score again.

Bill Kral scored the Rocks only TD in the second quarter. Dearborn closed its scoring in the opening minutes of the second half.

With 10 seconds left in the game, a Rich Hewlett to Bill Kral pass was good for a Rock TD as the game ended.

Today (Thursday) Salem travels to Allen Park for a game beginning at 4 p.m.

What counts is the here and now

One of my favorite tarot cards is the five of cups, for it teaches a lesson we should all bear in mind whenever we are feeling sorry for ourselves.

This card pictures a solitary figure clothed in darkness, standing by the river. His head is bent down in mourning over three cups that lie spilled and empty upon the ground. In his grief, he fails to notice the two full cups still standing behind him.

The symbolism here seems very plain. As the river of life flows on, we must all lose some of what we treasure. But in grieving too deeply over these losses, we sometimes overlook what is still there for us to enjoy.

Some people try so hard to recapture their lost youth that they never learn to enjoy their middle years and old age.

One woman I know is still mourning a lover she lost in the war 30 years ago. By doing this, she has failed to form new and perhaps better relationships, and 30 years of her life have been wasted.

THE FOUR of cups is also an interesting card. This one pictures a young man beneath a tree. He appears to be worried about something. Three full cups stand upright before him, and out of the sky comes a hand offering him still another cup. Yet, he is discontented.

Just as it is wrong to cry long over spilled milk, it is also a pity to spend too much time contemplating the future.

There are those who spend so much time preparing for the future, that they completely lose sight of today and its joys. It is possible to save so much for a rainy day that one never enjoys the sunshine.

WHEN I was a small child, I once heard a preacher who believed the world was coming to an end. He said that he had been given a revelation that it would happen in just 30 days. He was very convincing, and I, for one, believed him and was terrified.

I went home and told my mother. "Mama," I said, "the world is coming to an end in 30 days."

My mother replied, "Oh, is that so?" and kept right on with what she was doing.

"MAMA!" I cried again. "You don't understand! The world is coming to an end!"

My mother stopped what she was doing and looked at me. Then, very calmly she asked, "Child, what do you want me to do about it?"

I knew it was no use talking to her about it, so I got a Girl Scout calendar, marked off 30 days, and waited.

Believe me, there is a hell. I lived in it for 30 days. I pictured every fiery end imaginable.

But the 30 days came, and the 30 days went, and the world was still here. And then I began to wonder how my mother was so smart.

"MAMA," I asked, "How did you know that the world wasn't going to end?"

She looked at me and answered, "I didn't know. I don't know now. The world may end today or tomorrow. No one knows. But, one thing I know for sure, that when it's time for this world to end, there's not one thing I can do to stop it. So I'm not going to waste my time worrying about it."

My mother was right. The past is past, and nothing any of us can do will bring it back or change it, and tomorrow may never get here. Not one of us here today is sure we'll wake up tomorrow. We're not given that guarantee. The world may end for you or me at any moment.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

If there is any lingering doubt regarding the women taking over the bowling game in the western suburban areas, a trip to the various bowling centers any morning would remove it.

There is not a center in the area that doesn't boast a ladies league—even on Monday mornings that used to be set aside as "wash day."

Glancing at the bulletin boards you'll note the averages from such feminine named league as the Coffee and Donut League, the cake and coffee circuit, early risers, classics of one kind or another and now the subdivision leagues are growing in popularity.

And if there is any doubt that the women added a lot of color to the game just take a look at the color of the balls they are using. Until the women came along all bowling balls were black. Now they are all colors of the rainbow. And they've added more by wearing colorful uniforms in the stronger leagues—even to the point that men have followed suit.

Yes sir, the ladies have taken over in a big way.

FOR A FEW MOMENTS the other day it appeared that Jody Grindell, bowling in the Wedgewood Commons League at Bel-Aire Lanes, was going to enter the exclusive ranks of women who have bowled perfect games.

She posted seven strikes in a row and the tension began to mount. But right then she drew a frown from Lady Luck, drew a split and had to be satisfied with a 223 game in a 621 series.

SANDY REIMAN is establishing something of a record at Merri-Bowl there she posted a 236 count for a new high single for the season in the suburban mixed league.

She has held the high single game mark in the league for the past five years.

The women also did well in the other leagues, too, as Ann Terry rolled a 242 in a 555 series in the senior house league and Mary Stevens contributed a 246 in 555 in the Early Birds group.

AT PLYMOUTH BOWL the ladies also stole the show. June Karker showed the way in the ladies classic with a 560 series and Carolyn Bieganski fired a 240 in 543 and Sharon Holland had a 234.

THE SPLIT CONVERSION CLUB was at it again at Mayflower Lanes—and again it was the ladies who took the honors. Carol Westcott converted the 3-6-7-8-10 and Ruth Lasky topped the 6-7-10.

Not to be outdone the men came in for their share of honors when Bob Ganzel linked games of 257, 213 and 202 for a 672 to top the Mayflower Honor Roll for the week. Behind him came Toni Lemond, with a 545 and Rose Geran with 531 to give the women a goodly share, too.

THE TEEN-AGERS are still going strong at Farmington Lanes, the area's hotbed of junior bowling. This week it was Kim Harrington who showed the way with a 223 game in a 612 series.

Two substitutes were the big winners in the Ladies Classic at Livonia Lanes. Loretta Moersch won the series with a 523-111-634 that included a single game victory with a 175-37-212. Dee Briggs, another sub, took the second game with 182-42-224 after Gerry Zande had taken the opener with 183-42-225.

One of the most pleased bowlers in the entire area, is Marge Kropacek, captain of the Shirey Sales team in the Bowlerettes League. And she had a good reason.

Her team did the unexpected by finally rolling a four figure game of 1,024 and 2,768 series to win a pair of games from the strong Bonanza team to knock it out of first place.

Meanwhile, Anita Cantaline's Jac-Ro combination stayed on top with games of 946, 1,036 and 1,033 for 3,050—a new high for the season.

RICK ACRE set a torrid pace in the Moose League at Garden Lanes last week to register a 669 series—the best of the season thus far. His closest rival was Audie Champoux with 627.

Others who bettered double century figures included Glenn Gratty with 611 and Joe Webb with 609.

There were only three series above 600 in the Classic where George Hollabaugh was high man with 641. He gained a 17-pin edge on Bill Mull with 624 and Dick Hall rounded out the trio with 601.

Lorraine Young lead the parade in the Ladies Classic with a 588 with Pat Lisowski in the runner up position with 573 and Shirley Barhouski in third place with a 593.

In the Tuesday senior house Marge Van Ness set the pace 593.

THE WOMEN HAD THE PINS FLYING at Plaza Bowl. Linda Gray-jack a 135 average bowler, had a 242 in 563, and Barbara Krivitz slumped to a 172 after games of 221 and 214 for a 607. And she is the secretary of the league.

In the Elks League it was Virgil Norgrove out in front with games of 278, 202 and 188 for 668, while in the Teachers League Thomas Cotner showed the way with 277, 185 and 192 for 654. 646 to pace the senior house loop. Hal Jolley was right behind with 643 and Mike Chapman landed in third place with 632.
